

Event Title:
Unforgettable Latinx Characters

Event Outline:

Cleyvis kicks off the conversation/welcomes the audience/provides outline of what we'll be speaking about.

Each writer will introduce themselves after a prompt from Cleyvis (2 minutes max) - 10 minutes

Cleyvis will ask each writer to read a brief excerpt from their novel. Please keep your reading to under 5 minutes – 25 minutes

We'll review these questions:

What is a memorable character? What characters, literary or otherwise, influenced your perception of what it means to make a lasting impression in fiction through your own work?

What aspects of your heritage did you aim to honor through the craft of your characters?

How was this process complicated during revision? Or during the editorial process toward publication?

How do your characters subvert or challenge clichés of who we are in the Latinx community?

What advice would you offer emerging writers of the Latinx/Latine community in regards to crafting powerful and memorable characters who don't fit the mold?
