

Event Title: Digital Narratives: Teaching, Telling Our Stories and Connecting to the Past

Event Description: This panel will offer the perspectives of four women writers of color using digital humanities and digital archives to recover, document, and promote the voices and histories of underrepresented artists, writers, and activists. We will also discuss how we can use digital tools to tell stories in new and compelling ways. In addition, we will describe the challenges we face as women of color in the predominately white field of Digital Humanities and how we navigate through these obstacles.

Event Category: Publishing, Editing, and Technology

Event Organizer: Claire Jiménez

Event Moderator: Erika Abad

Event Participants: Olufunke Ogundimu, Erika Abad, Linda Garcia Merchant, Claire Jiménez